MESASA
1955

Foreword

"Now the seniors are leaving . . ."
At last we are singing this song;
With four years of learning behind us,
This day we've awaited so long!

School days at O.H. are ended;
College and Life we must face;
But still all our memories of high school
The years will never erase.

Memories that bring to us pictures
Of classes, of sports, and of fun;
Of parties on Tuesdays and buses to games
And homework that never was done.

Frantically rushing for deadlines,
Last-minute cramming for tests,
Shouting for order in homeroom—
These we'll remember the best.

"Now the seniors are leaving . . ."
At last we are singing this song;
And leaving this book to remind you,
"We'll think of you after we've gone."

Dedication

Among the privileges bestowed on our senior class is the right of honoring the person who in our opinion has done the most for us during our years at Ottawa Hills.

Because you have shared our many problems and helped us solve them with patient guidance; because you have shown so much originality in helping us with our various activities; because you have had a real interest in all that our class has done; because you have been a wonderful teacher and an understanding friend; we, the class of 1955, gratefully dedicate this fifteenth Mesasa to you, Mrs. Meeks. We'll never forget you!

Senior Class

S ince the very first day we walked around the Arrowhead,

E very member of the Class of '55 has looked forward to the day when he would be a senior.

N ow special privileges, College Boards and college applications have descended on us.

I n the near future we shall be wearing caps and gowns and receiving our coveted diplomas.

O n Tuesday nights, books were often left untouched while the seniors got together to enjoy the latest records, delicious food, and current gossip.

R eadin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic were also an important part of our school lives, and several students won honors in interscholastic competition.

S chool activities were capably led by various members of our class.

C ramming for exams and rushing for Mesasa deadlines at least saved us from boredom.

R eally, our senior play, "Time Out for Ginger," was lots of fun, even though it was work.

A lthough our ways will soon part and

P erhaps we will never be gathered together again, we will always remember our

S enior year—the parties, the homework, the class meetings, and the lasting friendships we formed.

Class History

The year, 1942, saw many world shaking events. Among the first and foremost of these was the birth of the Class of 1955, destined to develop into a lively, outsanding group of "Saints and Sinners."

Our formal education was begun around Mrs. Thompson's sandbox. We made such phenomenal academic achievements as learning to put our coats, leggin's, boots, hats, mittens, and assorted other wraps into our own little cupboards. Moreover, we were all successful in taking quiet naps on little "prayer-rugs"—all, that is, except Larry Mindel, who insisted on napping on a table from which he invariably fell.

Surprisingly, the whole class was graduated magna cum laude from Kindergarten and promoted into Miss Bramble's first grade, only to meet with Alice and Jerry books and vain attempts at printing. Tragedy struck that year when something, fair or foul, caused Miss Bramble's mammoth paste jar to plunge to the floor and shatter to bits. To this day, the cause of the fall remains a mystery to her.

That was also the year that the community was given its first glimpse of our theatrical talents. We organized a rhythm band, composed of various tambourines, drums, cymbals, triangles, and more drums. Our aim was not necessarily the hitting of the right note at the right time, but hitting any note, any time, LOUDLY. We were fortunate in being able to participate in our first of Mrs. Harr's Christmas pageants that year. The girls, all dressed up in their fancy dresses, sang lullabyes to their Christmas dollies, and the boys did a marvelous dance with candy canes. Each boy showed marked individuality in managing to have his cane wiggle to a beat all his own.

Mrs. Brown gave gold and silver stars to the lucky second graders writing perfect papers. We also started Brownies in the second grade. Of course, as "Tweenies," we learned our promise, laws, and songs before we could be elevated to the coveted "Brownie" rank.

Our fondness for wheels developed in the third grade. The boys, with their new bicycles, had numerous races and contests; while the girls speeded to school on their shiny roller skates. We started our fabulous card collections then, but because of fights over favorite cards Miss Franklin had to restrict trading at school.

Under the leadership of Sally Shawaker, "Timothy Mouse," the girls organized the famous Mouse Club with Debby Williams as "Daddy" and Susan Stowell as "Mommy." Dave Melhorn, together with the other third grade males, formed the Cat Club, but since it only had the evil purpose of undermining the Mouse Club, it soon dissolved.

Every girl in Mrs. Harr's fourth grade considered herself an expert on jacks, jump-rope, and hop scotch, for she played them by the hour. The fourth grade "men" were known as "Big deals out of lemon peels."

What a time poor Mrs. Beachler had in trying to settle our soccer fights. Finally, after many serious lectures, the girls promised to forego tripping, the boys said that they would stop hiding the ball, and we all vowed to play good, clean soccer.

The sixth grade brought something new and different in our educational experience. We studied psychology, and Mrs. Harr encouraged us to confess our misdeeds and even our friends' transgressions before our classmates. She taught us to draw pictures to music; what resulted might be termed modern art.

The eighth grade was the year of gay romances. Perhaps the most hectic of these was J.W.'s and Ginnie Todd's, interrupted for only three days when J. went steady with Linda Seidel. They even had a song—"Orange Colored Sky." The boys initiated Delmar to Ottawa Hills by dismantling her desk so that it would collapse the minute she sat in it. By heroic effort, Mr. Fulghum managed to keep order by dint of taping mouths and by the aid of Mr. Pines, his favorite paddle.

The class rose to great literary heights in publishing two issues of "Lookin' Thru the Keyhole." This worthy magazine included such juicy tidbits as who had or wanted a date with whom, affairs between students and teachers, fashion notes from the girls' home ec. classes, Gayety ads, clever riddles, poems, and helpful hints such as this, which highlighted another big romance:

DEDICATION

We wish to dedicate this issue of the KEYHOLE to Larry Mindel and Dana Diemer in hopes that they will find peace between themselves and leave the rest of us alone.

P. S. Dear Dana and Larry,

Both of you should know that Lois and Fred are just two people that you hide behind, so you don't have to admit your 'like' for each other.

After recovering from the wonder of being Freshmen in the high school with the "big kids," we sponsored "Blue Moon." Despite the loss of $2.50 we all had lots of fun at the dance. That year we also acquired that bargain of bargains, our juke box, for $65; we used it three times at the most, and at last in our junior year we were able to sell it to five of our lucky classmates for the great sum of $5.

Anyone looking out the window during our sophomore year would have been surprised to see students skipping around foolishly with butterfly nets or fighting over an ignumen fly. Well, we were only working on our bug collections for biology. In the spring came Mr. Parson's famous term papers. Who knows how many hours at the library, sleepless nights, and sore fingers went into our masterpieces? It was worth it, though.

But even these writings were eclipsed by Ottawa Hills' first Talent Show. This big project was hard work but rewarding, for in addition to all the fun and experience we had, we were quite proud of our profit of over $500.

We started our junior year out right by initiating a continuous school-spirit contest, using our old friend Tobias and also Oscar the Bum. Mad comics made their appearance then, and the junior girls became mad members of the E.C. Fanaddict Club. Many Saturday mornings found this illustrious group enjoying 6:00 breakfast at the White Hut. Naturally, the highlight of that year came at the end with our very wonderful and successful prom.

The following September it was hard to believe that we were the graduating class, but special privileges and college applications brought the realization that this was indeed our last year.

As this is written early in our senior year it can not give a complete story. However, no record should neglect to mention the fantastic collection of fabulous cars belonging to the class of '55 (although the Decker-Glow-Williams truck has disappeared into oblivion with junior class foolishness). Many of our classmates have given their school valuable leadership in sports, student council, Y-Teens, Hi-Y, G.R.A., and other activities. But best of all are the enduring friendships, especially precious during our last year at Ottawa Hills.

With college entrance so near, scholastiç achievement became more important, and many nights saw the seniors burning the midnight oil while struggling over incomprehensible physics problems and special themes for Mr. Sattler. Yet marvelous T.G.I.T. parties and weekend get-togethers gave us our share of good times.

Soon, in our caps and gowns, we will walk down the aisle of our gym for the last time as a class and receive our diplomas. Our years at Ottawa Hills—years of trials and tragedies, fun and foolishness, happiness and heartache, and good times and "growing-up" will be gone, but not forgotten.

The Last Will And Testament Of The Class Of 1955

We the class of 1955, in this our Last Will and Testament, do hereby will and bequeath the following:

I, Kitty Acklin, do leave my expert efficiency to Carol Crampton. "By diligence she wins her way."

I, Bill Anspach, do leave ten extra pounds to Joe Bower. "Let's find the happy medium."

I, Don Basch, do leave my baby blue eyes to Tommy Longenecker. "Merriment shown from his eyes."

I, Marge Bensinger, do leave my assorted accents to Al Paul. "Her talk is a mixture of foolish and wise."

I, Bonnie Black, do leave my effervescent sparkle to my sister, Tito. "I'll be merry and glad; I'll be sad for nobody."

I, Delores Borsvold, do leave my snorting laugh to Mr. Barber. "Laugh and the world laughs with you."

I, Bill Cannon, do leave my curly locks to Tam Kahle. "And seldom was a nod amid such luxuriant ringlets hid."

I, Fred Cruciger, do leave my radio antennae and call letters to Dave Staelin. "Wherever you go there's radio."

I, Jay Decker, do leave a foot or two to John Nedelec. "We don't want him any longer. He's long enough already."

I, Dana Diemer, do leave my crown to future home-coming queens. "A train of well-dressed youths around her shone, and every eye was fixed on her alone."

I, Lois Fox, do leave my shin guards to anyone brave enough to face the dangers of being goalie. "Give a girl a hockey stick."

I, Rosie Garrison, do leave my renowned dancing to future French banquets. "A dancing Shape, an Image gay, to haunt, to startle, and waylay."

I, Dave Glow, do leave my countless pranks and devilishness to Artie Smith. "A head to contrive, a tongue to persuade, and a hand to execute any mischief."

I, Carole Greenberg, do leave my fashionable attire to Patti Steinberg. "O, Woman! Thou wert fashioned to beguile."

I, Jo Hamilton, do leave my sweet sincerity to Judy Beishline. "A sweet, attractive kind of grace."

I, Elinor Hart, do leave my sunny disposition to Debby Wuerfel. "Be charming."

I, J. W. Hart, do leave my Caruso voice to Ann Scheib. "Behold, another singer!"

I, Read Heydt, do leave the "Piano Roll Blues" to Margie Fuller. "How his fingers went when they moved by note o'er the yielding plank of the ivory floor."

I, Gerry Kwapich, do leave my morning cigarettes to Jim Wolfe. "Smoke, smoke, smoke that cigarette."

I, Jim Larson, do leave my deep, oratorical voice to Helen Arthur. "Hear me, good people, while I speak."

I, Janell MacArthur, do leave my fabulous parties and open houses to Jean Burch. "And a good time was had by all."

I, Bud Marshall, do leave my lingua-phone records to Mr. Fontaine. "He speaks three or four languages, word for word, without a book."

I, Jim Meckler, do leave my track shoes to Mr. Stewart. "Do you want to join cross-country?"

I, Dave Melhorn, do leave the honor of being "Man of the Hour" to Joel Levine. "He sits at the head of every table."

I, Larry Mindel, do leave my fast talking ability to John Davis. "Persuasion tips his tongue when e'er he talks."

I, Dave Morrison, do leave my customizing ability to Fritz Betz. "The fashion car for '64."

I, Chuck Racine, do leave my golf clubs and tees to Bobby Hinkle. "Fore!"

I, Lee Raymond, do leave my three-quarter to Eldo's Auto Top Shop. "It's tops."

I, Tod Roemer, do leave my cleats and shoulder pads to Gus Carver. "Life is a game of football—with time out for dating."

I, Delmar Roos, do leave my stateroom on the Queen Mary to Mr. Woodward. "The water is always bluer on the other side of the ocean."

I, Mike Rubin, do leave my way with women to Tommy Glow. "With graceful steps he strides the street, and smiles on all the ladies sweet."

I, Linda Seidel, do leave my long eyelashes to Sarah Macomber. "All the better to see you with, my dear."

I, Sally Shawaker, do leave my "oral cavity" to Jeanne Kabat. "Twenty fathoms deep."

I, Don Short, do leave my hair tonic to Hank Geiger. "Bryll Creem, a little dab'll do ya."

I, Courtney Slayton, do leave my hot trumpet to Mr. Dorlay. "Blow man, Blow."

I, Bob Snider, do leave my chop and channeling to Dudley Babcock. "Pedestrians, beware!"

I, Jeanne Southard, do leave my dimples to Marie Pope. "Her dimples, how merry."

I, Spencer Stone, do leave my numerous argyles to Mr. Sattler. "Clothes make the man."

I, Sue Stowell, do leave my sympathetic nature to Elizabeth Burns. "A tender heart, a loyal mind."

I, Fran Thomas, do leave my flaming hair to Alicia Kirkman. "Gentlemen prefer redheads."

I, Ginnie Todd, do leave my bottle of peroxide to Lee Abernethy so that he can finish the job. "My head is fair with flaxen hair."

I, Dave White, do leave my way with women to my brother, Jim. "If she undervalue me, what care I how fair she be?"

I, Bill Williams, do leave my friendliness to Judd Johnson. "For he's a Jolly Good Fellow."

I, Debby Williams, do leave Johnny to the junior girls. "Handle with Care."

As a class we leave:

The Arrowhead in the lower hall and our T.G.I.T. parties to the junior class. "The Best Years of Our Lives."

The senior girls leave their fun and foolishness to the freshmen girls. "Life is just a bowl of cherries."

The boys leave their cars and casualties to future hot-rods. "A car for every occasion.

Who's Who

Welcoming Judy Vickerstaff, youthful member of the Class of '67, to Ottawa Hills are the leaders of this year's senior class. Kneeling beside Judy are Mike Rubin, business manager of the Mesasa, and Dave Melhorn, president of Student Council. Behind them standing are Read Heydt, president of the Council on World Affairs; Sally Shawaker, president of G.R.A.; Ginnie Todd, editor-in-chief of the Mesasa; Kitty Acklin, president of Y-Teens; Bud Marshall, president of the French Club; Fred Cruciger, president of Hi-Y; Bonnie Black, editor-in-chief of the Arrowhead; Bill Cannon, president of the Latin Club; Sue Stowell, president of the Spanish Club; and Larry Mindel, president of the senior class. Under the capable guidance of these officers, the organizations and publications of Ottawa Hills have become better than ever!

ATHLETICS

Football

1954

Although the 1954 football season was not a spectacular one in the win-loss column, the Green Arrows, under the capable leadership of Coach Jack Parsons, showed up well in their schedule of eight games. Due to the addition of the freshman members, the varsity team was one of the largest in recent years.

The season began with the first annual Boosters' Club Football Clinic, held soon after school began in September, which served to introduce the club to the village and student body.

The six senior players — Don Basch, Larry Mindel, Jay Decker, Tod Roemer, Dave White, and Dave Glow, and the senior manager, J. W. Hart—each received an engraved gold football for his services to the team. This is the first year that the school has given this award, but it hopes to continue doing so in the future.

Next year thirty-nine boys will return to the club, eleven of whom will be seniors. With so many experienced players coming back, next year's team should be a good one.

Recreation Center

Under the supervision of a group of parents, Mr. Parsons has succeeded in starting the Ottawa Hills Youth Recreation Center held nearly every Friday or Saturday night. Now in its second year, the Center is held either in the Scout House, or in the High School gym. Some of the activities which have been popular with the students are checkers, chess, scrabble, ping-pong, basketball, cards, record playing, and television.

Student Council

This active organization has been the origin of a great many school functions and projects this year. One of its great feats was the Homecoming Dance, held on October 23, the night following our home game with Liberty Center.

Also included in the Council's accomplishments are: a permanent billboard for the football field, showing the schedule of games; student directories printed, and basketball pencils ordered and placed on sale at the bookstore for the students; a victory pennant made and hung in the hall following every win of the Arrows; and a sportsmanship contest emphasizing fair play and good conduct.

As this record shows, the year has been highly successful. The Council has proved, beyond a doubt, its ability as an efficient and capable governing body.

SITTING: Sterling Cole, Phil Stichter, Dave Glow, Dave Melhorn, Read Heydt, Gail Pass, Ellen Smith.
STANDING: Bill Skow, Mr. Barber, Earl Staelin, Gus Carver, John Hill, Jay Decker, John Davis, Rodger Owen, Lee Olsen, Dick Harrah.

The Ottawa Hills Council on World Affairs

This club was formed out of an interest on the part of the students in domestic as well as foreign affairs.

It is a member of the Toledo Junior Council on World Affairs and the first club to organize under this new organization.

To aid the students in understanding some of the problems existing in our world today, the club occasionally invites speakers and rents films of interest.

The organization is yet in its infancy but hopes that in the future it may secure a permanent place as a beneficial and contributing member in the school's program of activities.

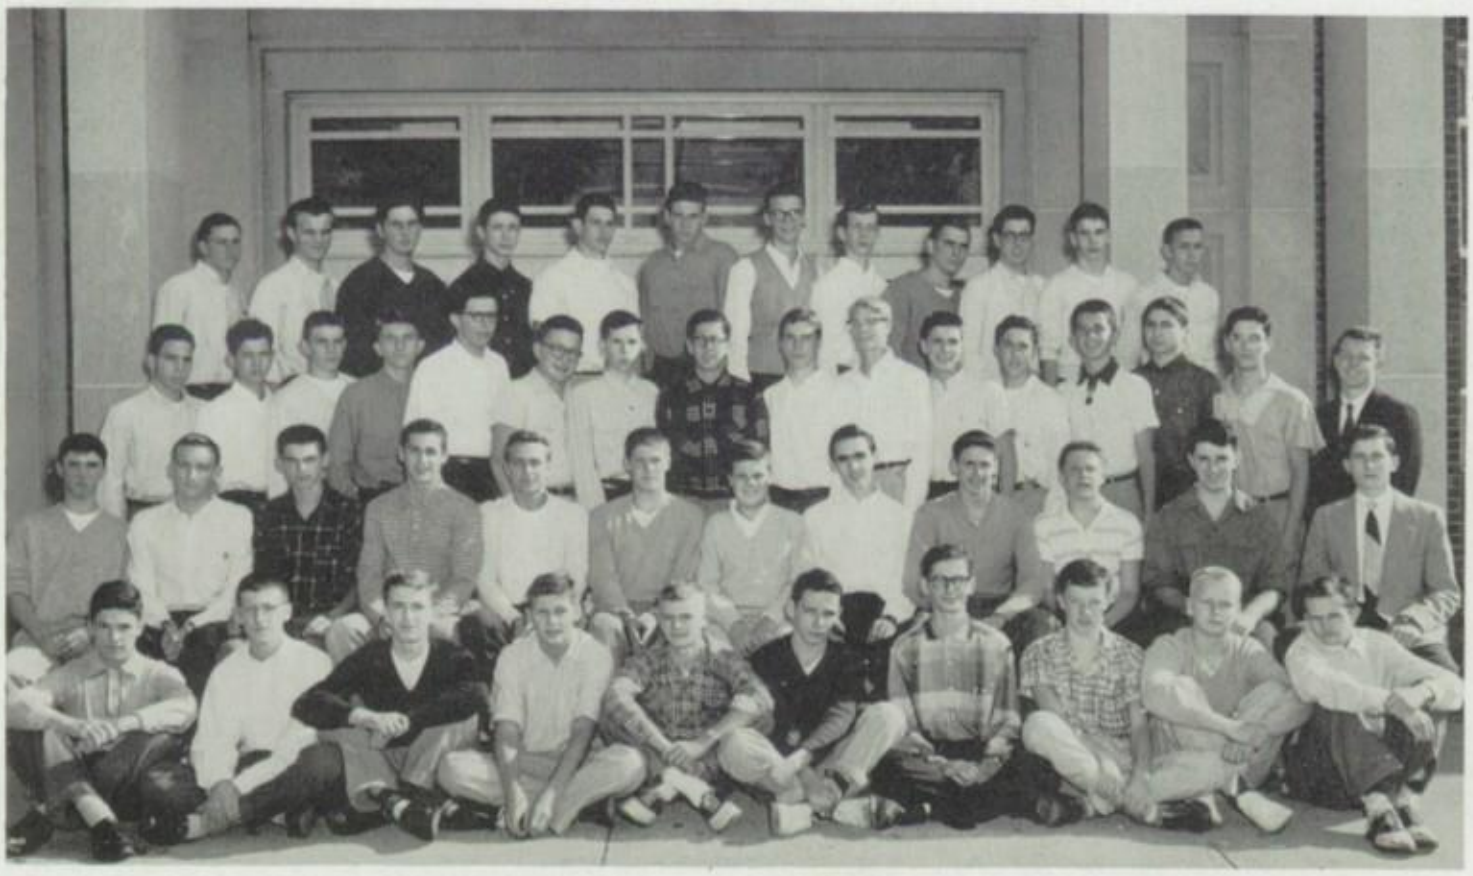
Hi-Y

The Hi-Y organization worked hard this year in establishing the principles of solid citizenship upon which the club was founded. Under the capable leadership of our president, Fred Cruciger, and his efficient staff of officers, the club presented many varied programs. Among some of the speakers, which addressed the group were Manuchecher Parvin, a foreign student from Iran, and Lou Hall and Bruce Taylor from the area Young Men's Christian Association. The Hi-Y Club also sponsored a dance, Basin Street, which was an outstanding success.

We confidently feel that this year can be counted as one of great achievement.



ROW 1: Reichert, Olsen, Young, Nikazy, Brueggemeier, Paul, Epstein, Jennings, T. Glow, Hart.
ROW 2: Racine, White, Raymond, Mindel, Basch, Roemer, Hinkle, Morrison, Short, Baron, Anspach, Heydt.
ROW 3: Meckler, Betz, Longenecker, Hartman, Bellman, O'Desky, Staelin, Rubin, Stichter, Bower, Rudy, Shapiro, Tenney, Levine, Heiles, Cruciger.

Y-Teens

This has been a banner year for the Y-Teens. The excellent leadership of our terrific cabinet has made such a year possible.

Many activities, including a bake sale, shakers for football games, refreshments for the State Hospital, Potato Chip week, a dance, and Y-Teen Carnival, have been successful.

There have been monthly program meetings at which the members have heard outstanding speakers. Among these were Margaret Slater, a policewoman, Karin Rodhnejad, a foreign student from Iran, and Laila Talip, a speaker on the Moslem religion.

ROW 1: Klein, Black, Cohen, Stein, Judy Williams, Kahle, Mather, Becker, Hart, Cole, Kabat. ROW 2: Bitner, Minns, Alexander, Goerlich, Goodman, Johnstone, Baunach, Scheib, Jackson, C. E. Smith, B. French Club

Under the leadership of Monsieur Marshall, the French Club again succeeded in acquainting its members with the culture and traditions of France. The French Banquet was held in the spring, and, as always, it proved to be an entertaining and unusual spectacle. Skits, songs, and dances by the students followed a superb dinner done in the true French style. All in all, it was a year of fun and success.

ROW 1: Klein, Todd, Hart, Mather, Black, MacArthur, Johnstone, Wuerfel, Davenport.
ROW 2: MacLean, Hardgrove, Arthur, Garrison, Rasmussen, Wilkinson, Fox, Kase, Steinberg, Rudy, Alexander.
ROW 3: Crampton, Greenberg, Smith, Fuller, Beier, Kirkman, Bitner, Gehring, Southard, Mewborn.
ROW 4: Stichter, Tenney, Marshall, Melhorn, Heydt, Staelin, Meckler, Glow.

Spanish Club

"Buenos días" was the familiar greeting at this year's Spanish banquet. La Presidente Stowell presided at the head of the table during the evening, which was highlighted by spirited Spanish dances and hilarious skits done in the traditional Castilian manner. Mr. Fontaine told us about his European tour and showed the club his slides of the interesting places that he visited in Spain.

ROW 1: Phillipps, Grubb, T. Rudy, Anspach, Kahle, Fulghum, Cohen, Stein, Pope, Williams, Cole, Meckler, Krohn, Sichel, H. Stein, Mather, Upson, Nedelec.

Latin Club

The Latin Club again succeeded this year in proving to the students that Latin and the Roman culture were still very much alive. The annual Roman Banquet highlighted the year's activities, and many distinguished citizens of Rome were seen in the halls arrayed in their white togas. Under the boisterous spirit which typified the Roman feast, the members made merry while Magister Sager offered words of wisdom.

ROW 1: Staelin, Paul, Glow, Stecher, MacLean, Skow, Seney, Swartzbaugh, Melhorn, Howard, Epstein, Nikazy, Olsen, Cook, Cossitt, Bruegemeier.
ROW 2: Bourne, Schnitker, Kabat, K. Carver, Schultz, A. Smith, Black, Goodman, Tenney, Becker, Donahue, Mather, B. Burch, Marshall, Jennings, Fain, Young.

ROW 2: Mulford, Hamilton, Gushman, Bolbach, Hart, Alexander, Meyers, Henry.

Officers: Linda Seidel, vice-president; Margie Fuller, Secretary-Treasurer; Sally Shawaker, president.

Girls' Recreation Association

The G. R. A., while not too active this year, has introduced many new sports to the Ottawa Hills girls' athletic program. Under Mrs. Striggow's direction, both after school and in our gym classes, we learned the fundamentals of such sports as tumbling, basketball, archery, hockey, volleyball, speedball, fencing, rhythm, and softball.

During the season, the G. R. A. sponsored a basketball tournament between the various classes, and after a hard-fought contest, the juniors beat the seniors out of first place by a one-point victory. In February we held a foul-shooting contest which was won by Sarah Macomber.

To give the students extra practice in hockey, we scrimmaged Toledo University several Thursday afternoons last fall. Then, to climax the hockey and basketbal seasons, we played Maumee Valley in both sports, one game at each school.

Certainly, the experience gained this year in all our activities will make next year's sports program the best ever!

ROW 1: G. Bogan, J. Bogan, Rawling, Baunach, Krohn, Mather, Goodman, English, Rowe, B. Burch, Burns, Marshall, Fromkin, Stewart, Meckler, Fulghum, Carver, Sichel, Todd, Pope, C. Bower, T. Black, L. Rudy. ROW 2: Borsvold, Doswell, Hardgrove, Bitner, Mewborn, E. Bower, K. Acklin, Gering, Southard, Beier, Kirkman, J. Burch, Bensinger, E. Smith, Shawaker, Crampton. ROW 3: Wuerfel, B. Smith, Seidel, Johnstone, C. Fox, Kase, V. Rudy, Thelander, Rasmussen, Wilkinson, B. Black, Miller, Huntington Hart, E. Grubb, McKisson, Franklin, Decker, Schnitker, Garrison, Kabat.

Assembly Committee

This year, thanks to Mrs. Meeks and the Assembly Committee, we enjoyed many interesting assemblies, covering a wide range of speakers and programs. Mrs. Alice Huebner gave us a very good book review; Judge Henry Middleton spoke about patriotism for our Armistice Day program; one of our graduates, Clark Olsen, told us about his tour through Communist Europe and Russia. Along with these and many other unusual personalities, the Committee planned programs around holidays and various awards in scholarships and athletics.

ROW 4: Held, Rubin, S. Howard, Johnson, E. Smith, Shawaker, Greenberg, Short, Heydt, Stowell.

Library Staff

"The magazines are there for your use; please leave them in the library!" This plea could be heard frequently throughout the school year in the morning bulletin. The library staff really worked hard to promote good relations between the Ottawa Hills student body and the inside workings of the library. They waged a vigorous campaign for the return of lost books, and other such problems of any library. The staff also learned how an efficient library should be run, employing the use of the Dewey Decimal System, cross-filing, index cards, sorting and shelving, and other common practices.

They made excellent use of the display cases and bulletin boards, decorating them with attractive displays which enhanced the general appearance of our library.

All in all, it is agreed that our future librarians have done a commendable job in the past year and rate the thanks of the student body for making the high school a better place in which to work.

Masks

Conforming Matrix spray painting masks withstand thousands of applications, a complete year's run of high production. Plug-type keeps depressed areas clear while spraying background; lip-type protects background while painting depressed areas; block-cutout, plane-surface type coats restricted area for fast wiping operation; cap-type protects raised design while painting background.

Fixtures

Standard and special clamps and pressure fixtures hold mask and part firmly in position during spraying to assure exact registration. Reduce rejects, lengthen mask life, and speed production by freeing both hands for productive movements. Usually cost less than handmade mechanical devices of questionable efficiency.

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENTS BY CONFORMING MATRIX

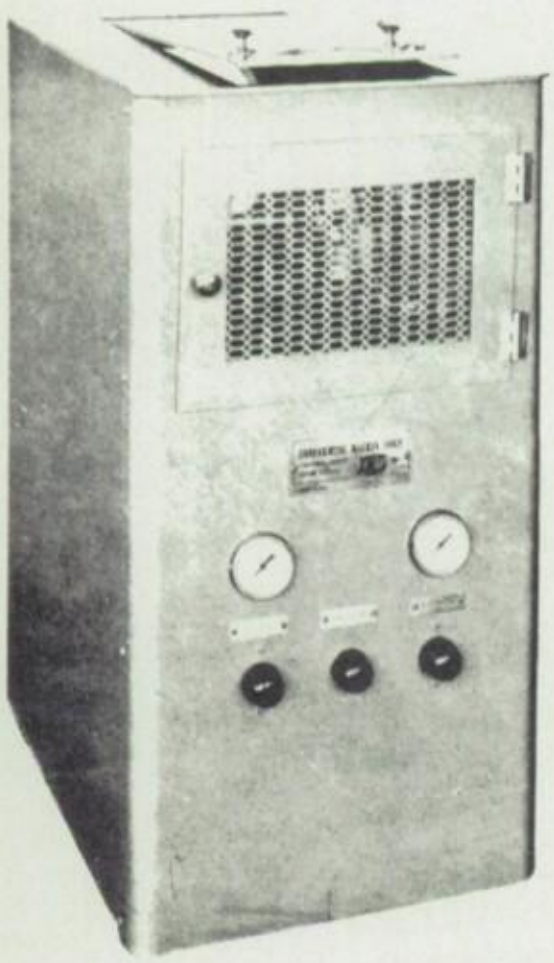
Don't

LET OLD FASHIONED, OBSOLETE METHODS OF SPRAY DECORATING STEAL YOUR PROFITS!

Cut finishing costs. Greatly increase production with Conforming Matrix spray masks, fixtures, automatic machines and mask washers. Send prints or sample parts, giving production requirements and results desired. Recommendations as to the most efficient technique for handling your particular requirements incur no obligation.

Mask Washing Machines

50% faster than any other mask washer. Avert costly production delays due to damaging of the fine wire bridging by hand scrubbing. Low solvent consumption. One company reports the consumption of only two gallons per eight hours.



Automatic machines permit increased production rates in intricate spray mask decoration, by as much as hundreds to one, over hand methods. Radically reduce labor costs and eliminate the need of experienced workmen. Rejects, common with careless or inexperienced hand spraying, are practically eliminated. Conforming Matrix builds a number of very flexible automatic machines, each can be manufactured to meet your specific requirements.

STATIONARY GUN PRESSURE CONTACT PAINTING MACHINE

For single color painting of depressed or raised areas up to $2\frac{1}{2}$" by $1\frac{1}{4}$", and fine details on dials and control knobs.

Placing the part into the mask and depressing the table top starts the paint operation. Completely air operated. Exactly the same amount of paint is applied to every piece regardless of rate of operation. Paint cycle automatically timed. Produces faster than any machine on the market. On demonstration production runs for final customer approval, produced at the following rates (including the necessary time for mask washing): Silver headlights painted on toy trucks at the rate of 1,215 pieces per hour; Block cut letters requiring secondary wiping operation painted on heater dial at the rate of 1,160 pieces per hour; Assembled toy truck painted silver at the rate of 1,215 pieces per hour; Curved die cast heater indicator parts at a rate of 900 pieces per hour.

Adjustable mount accommodates one or two guns. Requires floor space of only $18\frac{1}{2}$" x 27". The standard mask opening of 4" x 8" can be altered to fit the part.
